By WALTER LAWSON WILDER
DENVER, Aug. 14. (Canton) is the word that fairly describes the condition of politics in Colorado today, but it is the change of location and not the integration. The days of machine politics and of game government in this state, according to the old method, are gone and gone forever. The great idol, The Boss, has fallen, and all the king's horses and all the king's men, "couldn't see Humpty Dumpty put together again."
It is quite in keeping with the usual course of machine leaders that the

are the only persons in the state who fail to recognize the changed conditions. The Denver city election was surely a lesson plain enough for a read. In that election the Republican machine ticket received scarcely one-seventh of the entire vote and the Democratic machine ticket about one-quarter, while the citizens' ticket, supported by Progressive Republicans, the Progressive Democrats and Independents, received more votes than the two regular tickets put together. Yet in the face of that unmistakable popular verdict, the Republican machine sent the usual and familiar coalition-machine factors to misrepresent the Republicans of Colorado at it

"Acid Test" a Mistake.

The effect of the "acid test" was not what the machine leaders planned. Had they permitted a trial of strength in the assemblies, they might have encouraged the people, by the usual machine methods with the claim that their candidates were the people's choice. But having shut out of the assembly every Progressive Republican, the machine leaders plainly put the machine brand of approval upon every

The Democratic machine was equally bold and equally defiant of public sentiment. The Denver county assembly selected as delegates to the state assembly Messrs. and Mrs. W. H. P.

litical and official misdeeds were mainly responsible for the popular uprising against the Democratic Party machine. The state assembly at Pueblo refused recognition to the contesting delegation from Denver and nominated for the primary's election a mixed bag of reactionaries, conservatives, progressives and radicals, concluding all labors by adopting a resolution favor-

The machine leaders, both Democrats and Republicans, are now realizing the worthlessness of the prize of assembly control, for which they have contended so earnestly. The nominees of the Republican assembly go before the people at the primary election as machine candidates, while the Democratic assembly nominees will be judged by the voters by any other standard than sin, Polinder, Washington and Works, California.

Former Speaker Angered.

The defection of the Republican Progressives in the house angered former Speaker Cannon. In the course of an attack on the proposal to repeal the wool veto performance he spoke of the defection of yesterday in bitter terms.

"They may call themselves Republicans," he thundered, "but I am not one of that kind."

"Thank God," retorted one of the insurgents, amid laughter and applause from the Democratic side.

Majority Leader Underwood made a spirited attack on the motives that prompted President Taft to veto the steel bill which he said had been passed by a Republican senate with but two slight amendments. He referred to the president's explanation that changes had been made in the schedules is presented to him last year and that congress had voted no explanation for those changes.

Underwood Scores Explanation.

"A statement of that kind in a great public document is not only lamentable but it is pitiable," said Mr. Underwood.

"Any man of intelligence, or any man of conscience, any man having respect for himself would not send to congress that statement as a reason for defeating the will of the American people as expressed by their representatives."

Mr. Underwood, just before adjournment, announced the failure of the house conferees to reach any agreement with the senate on the sugar tariff revision measure. "The house voted to send the bill back to conference with instructions that the house conferees refuse to agree to the senate amendments."

The debate on the cotton bill in the senate was short. The amendment offered by Senator La Follette was identical to the bill presented in the house by Hill of Connecticut, and which then received the support of the majority of Republicans. Senator La Follette declared it represented an actual reduction 2 per cent lower on the average than the Democratic bill. His substitute received only 14 votes, however, and the Progressives then joined the Democrats in passing the house bill.

Senate Yields to House Demand for Abolition of Pension Agencies

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—The senate today yielded to the demands of the house for the abolition of the pension agencies throughout the United States and passed the $150,000,000 pension appropriation bill with a provision for the abolition of the agencies January 31, 1913.

The action of the conferees was the culmination of a dispute that has held up the payment of over $8,000,000 of pension payments due Civil war veterans on August 4, and has thrown the financial operations of the pension bureau into chaos.

MORE MONEY DEPOSITS BY BECKER TO LIGHT

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—Although Police Lieutenant Becker, charged with instigating the murder of Herman Rosenthal, denied to his counsel today that he has ever possessed the sum of $58,815 credited to his name or that of his wife in various New York banks, District Attorney Whitman today obtained from the officials of the Chelsea Exchange bank records showing that the police officer had deposited $3,500 in that institution during April, bringing the recorded total of Becker's deposits up to $52,345.

Rosenthal's alleged slayers will be brought to trial by the district attorney without delay. His plan is to try them separately and to begin the first trial in September.

Assistant District Attorney Moss found two more eye-witnesses to the murder today making six who are able to identify the men who fired the shots.

L. L. AITKIN'S NAME IN SUGAR HEARING

Witness' Refusal to Tell of Talk With Local Man Delays Inquiry

DENVER, Aug. 14.—Because Thomas H. Tully, a member of the state highway commission, refused to testify today before the special board of special inquiry appointed by the government to dissolve the "sugar trust," it is probable that the proceedings in Denver will be delayed until an order can be secured from the federal court in New York compelling him to tell all he knows regarding the operations of the alleged trust in this state.

"This afternoon Tully, when questioned closely by the government attorneys regarding his connection with the Durango scheme to establish a sugar factory there as testified to yesterday by Ward Darley, refused absolutely to chronicle conversations which took place between him and L. L. Aitkin of Colorado Springs, a director of the Longmont Sugar company in which it was alleged Aitkin could not be made to pay because the trust would not support it. Adjournment was taken with Tully on the stand to give the Durango man time to consult with his attorneys regarding his testimony.

CONFERENCE COMMITTEE AGREES ON CANAL BILL

Free Passage Denied to American Ships in Foreign Trade Foreign Building Material in Free

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—An agreement on the Panama canal administration bill was reached by the conference committee of the house and senate today. In free passage is denied to American owned ships engaged in foreign trade. Foreign ship building materials are admitted free of tariff to the United States and the interstate commerce commission is given power to break up any combination of competing rail and water lines which it finds is not for the public good.

Two of the six members of the conference committee, Senator Brandegee and Representative Stevens, of Missouri, declined to sign the report. Those who attached their names to the agreement were Senators Bristow and Simons and Representatives Adamson and Sims. As perfected in the conference committee the canal bill now provides:

Provisions of Present Bill

Free passage for American ships engaged in coastwise trade.

American registry for American owned foreign built ships engaged exclusively in foreign trade.

No tariff on foreign ship building materials for use in this country.

Trust owned ships prohibited from the canal.

Railroads prohibited from owning competing waterway lines operating through the canal or elsewhere.

One-man government for Panama canal and canal zone.

The conference agreement will be reported to the house and senate tomorrow and it is believed it will meet opposition in dropping the senate amendment giving free passage to American ships engaged in foreign trade the conference committee yielded to those who considered this clause a direct violation of the treaty with Great Britain.

Railroad Amendment Rewritten

Practically all the force of the Bourne railroad amendment attached to the bill in the senate was retained by the conference. It was rewritten to give the interstate commerce commission the right to determine whether railroads should be allowed to hold water lines, and to sanction such ownership when it was in the public interest.

The railroad section of the bill is drastic and broad in the powers it confers on the interstate commerce commission.

It prohibits railroads from owning or controlling competing steam lines "operating through the Panama canal or elsewhere," and gives to the interstate commerce commission the power to determine whether the railroad and steamship lines are "competing carriers," within the meaning of the law.

PROGRESSIVES WILL CAMPAIGN STATE

DENVER, Aug. 14.—The entire Progressive Republican state ticket will open the primary campaign with a week's trip through the state, commencing next Monday. More than a dozen candidates will be in the party and they will make a whirlwind oratorical campaign to Republican voters. The itinerary of the trip is as follows: Monday, August 19, Trinidad; Tuesday, Salda; Wednesday, Buena Vista and Leadville; Thursday, Telluride and Grand Junction; Friday, Paonia and Delta; Saturday, Olathe and Montrose. The chief speakers will be Philip B. Stewart, who is seeking the gubernatorial nomination, and Attorney General Ben Griffith, who desires reelection.

New and Scientific Treatment for Tuberculosis

ADVANCED BY ONE OF COLORADO SPRINGS' LEADING PHYSICIANS

A new idea in regard to the treatment of tuberculosis has been brought out by Dr. W. A. Shepard of this city. The old-fashioned idea that consumption is incurable has been changed by a good many of the leading physicians of this country and of Europe. Now it is claimed that consumption in the early stages can be cured by outdoor living and forced diet. This effort to cure patients by fresh air and diet has resulted very favorably in a good many cases, especially in the first stage, but when that fails, something more radical must be done and nature must be aided along her own lines to bring about an arrest of the disease. As soon as the lungs become diseased, from any cause, they fail to take in the normal amount of air, consequently the blood fails to get its normal amount of oxygen, and as oxygen is the life of the blood, the sensible thing to do is to furnish the patient with oxygen in such form that it can be readily assimilated. When the blood fails to get its normal amount of oxygen, the patient loses flesh and strength, the tubercle bacilli increase and spread without anything to check them until the lungs are destroyed, and during this process, the patient grows weaker and weaker and the cough increases until they become very much emaciated. This new process which has been used so successfully for several years in Colorado Springs, supplies the oxygen to the patient in such a way that it can be assimilated and taken into the blood, and after the normal percent of oxygen in the blood has been restored, the patient improves, and a very large percent of cases keep up their improvement until the disease is arrested. This new method of treating tuberculosis is certainly very unlike anything that has been brought out before, and so far has offered help to those who have failed to improve by methods that have long been tried.

STATE FAIR THIS YEAR WILL BE OF ESPECIAL INTEREST TO THE WOMEN

Special to The Gazette.

PUEBLO, Aug. 14.—The state fair management this year is making a special effort to arouse the interest of Colorado women in the state fair. The departments devoted to women will be larger and finer than ever before. All the old departments for women are to be recognized and the advance lists show liberal premiums. One new department devoted entirely to women's work has been added this season. It is to be known as department "J" and will comprise needle work and fancy work. The list of premiums will amount to about $500. Premiums are offered for hand-made articles, such as dresses, night shirts, under clothes, aprons, sheets, in fact all wearing apparel and household linen. Babbles, pillows and other articles are remembered. All articles made from domestic are in a special class. Drawn work, handkerchief embroidery, silk embroidery, eyelet embroidery, in fact all styles of embroidery.

DENVER POLICEMEN LOSE THEIR CLUBS

Shakeup in Department May Result From Shooting of Alleged Masher

DENVER, Aug. 14.—As a result of the shooting of Leo O. Fike of Lincoln, Neb., Monday night, a complete shakeup of the Denver police department is contemplated by the fire and police board. Fike was shot by Patrolman Joessel, because he is alleged to have insulted Mrs. Mollie Webster.

Joessel, Sergeant Dooley and Sergeant Patterson have been summoned to appear before the fire and police board Monday when they will be tried on the charge of brutality.

Today Police Commissioner Creel promulgated the following orders:

"Any officer who beats or otherwise maltreats a prisoner must be prepared to show justification of absolute self-defense under penalty of discharge from the department and further prosecution under the state laws."

"Any officer who discharges a revolver at one whose crime is not known or in cases where the known crime is less than a serious felony or in the event that his life is in peril will be discharged from the force and prosecuted under the state laws."

"I will stop brutality in the police force if I have to discharge every member of the department," said Commissioner Creel today.

Albert J. Arroll, brother of Mrs. Webster, has been arrested on the charge of carrying concealed weapons. All clubs have been taken away from policemen.

ery can compete for liberal premiums. Special premiums are offered for various kinds of work made by ladies over 60 years of age. Children under 12 years of age will compete in a special class and there are premiums for work done by children between the ages of 12 and 18 years. The fair management is particularly anxious to have department "J" become one of the most attractive at the state fair and the ladies are especially invited to place their work on exhibition.

The advance sheets of premiums in all departments can be secured by making request at the fair headquarters in the Central block by addressing Secretary A. L. Price.

SECRETARY STIMSON AND PROBERS CLASH

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—Secretary Stimson and the house committee investigating the case of Major Eschsch B. Ray, the army paymaster accused of having done political work for President Taft, clashed today over the right of the committee to call on Mr. Stimson to produce papers in the case. Representative Bulkley of Ohio, announced he would look for some precedent to accuse the secretary of contempt of congress.

Secretary Stimson denied the right of congress to try to get through him letters and papers of a personal nature. He resisted the effort of the members to pin him down to admission that he or some one in his department had "held back" from congress the papers in the Ray case.

Representative Martin said the important thing to learn was whether the conduct of the war department was guided by a "hint" from somebody outside. Mr. Stimson said nothing had been found during his administration which warranted "disciplinary action" in the case.

Mr. Stimson said he considered the conduct of Gen. J. Franklin Bell and Brig. Gen. Clarence Edwards in handling the papers in the case "highly irregular" as individuals though not officials. Some of the papers are said to be with General Bell in Manila.

The committee thinks it has not been given all of the documentary evidence concerning Major Ray's record and the investigation has simmered down to a congressional quest for "the papers." Mr. Stimson told the committee that President Taft was holding up a nomination for a lieutenant colonel for which Major Ray was in line pending the committee's report. The committee's investigation had developed a social scandal in which Major Ray was charged with being concerned. Secretary Stimson rebuked the committee for the publicity which attended that feature of the case.

BEST EXHIBITS AT STATE FAIR WILL COMPETE WITH PRODUCTS OF OTHER STATES

Special to The Gazette.

PUEBLO, Aug. 14.—Record-breaking crops in all sections of Colorado this year, graded and pure-bred horses, cattle, sheep, and poultry, in splendid condition, from plenty of fine pasturage and ample feed, funds in the banks at Pueblo to pay in cash every premium offered by the State Fair association as soon as the judges make their awards, will all contribute to make the 1912 state fair, to be held at Pueblo, September 16 to 21, the greatest exposition ever held in the intermountain region.

The advance sheets, containing lists of awards in the various departments, are being circulated throughout the country from the offices of the fair association, and more requests for copies of the advance sheets have been received this year than ever before in the history of the state fair.

Special premiums and the regular premiums offered by the fair association this year will total over $20,000, and, in addition, the purses for races will amount to over $10,000. This money is spent annually for the purpose of encouraging stock breeding, farming and fruit growing particularly in Colorado and to afford farmers fruit growers and stockmen in various sections of the state an opportunity to compare their products with the products of other sections of the state and of other states.

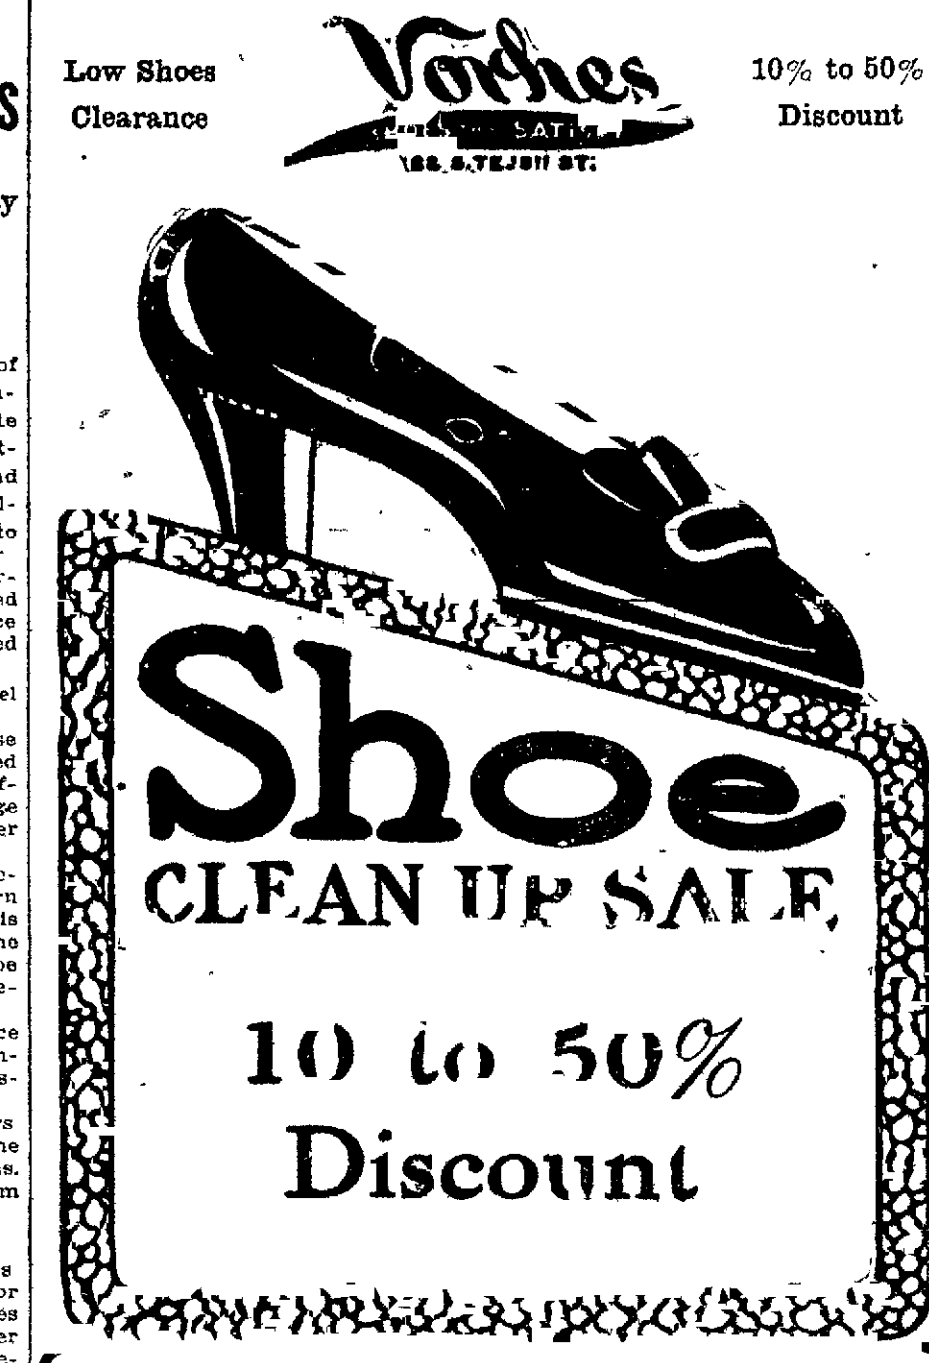

The Pueblo Commerce club this year proposes to see that the best exhibits at the state fair, when the exhibitors so desire, shall be placed in competition with products of other states at the leading fairs throughout the country.

The usual staple crops and breeds of stock are cared for liberally in the premium lists. Sugar beets, grains, vegetables, melons, potatoes, fruit, forage crops, hay, in fact, every staple crop, is mentioned in the premium lists, and there is a total of over 5,000 premiums offered. In the stock departments all the standard breeds of all stock and poultry are recognized.

SCRATCHING TO

Election two years ago, 18 per cent of the voters refrained from scratching their ballots. This year, possibly 10 per cent of the voters may exercise a similar restraint. The average voter this year will scratch his ticket and the average number of scratches per ballot will be considerably higher than it was two years ago.

The main element of political chaos lies in this, that the average voter today actually does not know how he is going to vote. Mainly for reasons of sentiment he calls himself a Republican or a Democrat, though he may have voted for Arnold and may expect to vote for Roosevelt, but he will scratch his ticket in the coming election and his selection of candidates will depend upon the results of the primary and other events not yet determined.

So far the machine leaders seem utterly without sense of the new conditions. So far their efforts have been directed mainly to getting control of the assemblies which control the new administration. It is a waste of time and money. The machine newspapers are resorting to the old tactics. They attack Stewart as ambitious and greedy for office, although every one that knows anything about politics knows that Stewart might have had the assembly nomination without opposition if he would have taken it from the machine leaders' hands. They attack Roosevelt, vindictively and maliciously, though every one knows that the difference of a few votes at Chicago would have made Roosevelt the regular party nominee and as such he would have received the full praise and support of those same newspapers.

Stewart and Others Go to People.

In the meantime Stewart, Griffith, Vincent and other progressive Republicans have gone straight to the people and have been making a campaign that is both novel and effective. They have realized that the assembly is a farce, that the preliminary test is the primary, and that the election will be decided by the judgment of the individual voters and not by the stamp of party regularity set upon candidates by authority of the machine.

The issues of the present campaign are complex beyond any former contest, but the congressional situation is not being ignored. By their own actions Colorado's Democratic representatives have confessed that their party is hostile to Colorado's industries and incompetent to promote Colorado's interests. In its foreign and naval policies the Democratic congress is even more unsatisfactory to patriotic and intelligent Americans. It distinguishes between national parties mean anything this year Colorado ought to be represented in congress by Republicans and not by Democrats, and the true representatives of Colorado's Republicanism must be Progressive Republicans.

More and more the campaign in the state is shaping itself to a contest of individuals and not of parties. It will be a contest of individuals until the primary election in November, and present indications are that the contest of individuals will continue up to election day and end only when the votes are counted.

So far the new Roosevelt Progressive party has but little strength in Colorado. It may become very strong if the machine wins, either in the Re-

Why Women Are Not Rich.

Man is a millionaire many times over in the possession of blood cells. Woman is not quite so rich, for scientists have proven that the normal man has five million—the woman only four and a half million to a cubic millimeter of blood.

A decrease in number of red blood corpuscles and a person "looks pale"—in fact, is anemic, the blood does not get the right food and probably the stomach is disordered.

Dr. R. V. Pierce found years ago that a glycero extract of golden seal and Oregon grape roots, queen's root and bloodroot with black cherry bark, would help the assimilation of the food in the stomach, correct liver life and in Nature's own way increase the red blood corpuscles. This medicine he called Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. By assimilating the food eaten the system is nourished and the blood takes on a rich red color. Nervousness is only "the cry of the starved nerves for food," and when the nerves are fed on rich red blood the person loses those irritable feelings, sleeps well at night and is refreshed in the morning.

"I was attacked with a severe nervous disease, which was caused by a disordered stomach and liver," writes Mr. J. D. Laval, of Wash. D. C. "I was advised to try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and derived much benefit from it. My case had run so long, it had become so chronic that nothing would effect a permanent cure, but Dr. Pierce's medicine has done much for me and I highly recommend it. I heartily advise its use as a spring tonic, and for those who desire to be in the best of health before the year closes, have run so long that there is no chance to be cured."

CLAIMS LION'S SHARE OF ELECTORAL VOTE

Chairman Gives Taft 384, Democrats 114, and Leaves Progressives Out in Cold

CHICAGO, Aug. 14.—Chairman Hillis of the Republican National committee, tonight issued a statement claiming 34 states, with a total electoral vote of 384, for the Republican ticket, and conceding 10 states, with an electoral vote of 114, to the Democratic party, and listing four states, with an electoral vote of 34, as doubtful.

Chairman Hillis conceded no state to the Progressive party.

Following are the figures submitted by Mr. Hillis in what he calls a preliminary survey of the political situation:

Claimed by Republican Party.
Electoral vote—Colorado, 6, Connecticut, 7, Delaware, 3, Idaho, 4, Illinois, 29, Indiana, 13, Iowa, 13, Kansas, 10, Kentucky, 13, Maine, 3, Maryland, 10, Massachusetts, 18, Michigan, 12, Minnesota, 12, Missouri, 18, Montana, 4, Nevada, 3, New Hampshire, 4, New Jersey, 4, New Mexico, 4, New York, 45, North Dakota, 5, Ohio, 24, Oregon, 5, Pennsylvania, 38, Rhode Island, 5, South Dakota, 5, Tennessee, 12, Utah, 4, Vermont, 4, Washington, 7, West Virginia, 8, Wisconsin, 13, Wyoming, 8; total 348.

Conceded to Democratic Party.
Alabama, 12, Arkansas, 8, Florida, 6, Georgia, 14, Louisiana, 10, Mississippi, 10, North Carolina, 12, South Carolina, 9, Texas, 20, Virginia, 12, total 114.

Listed as Doubtful.
Arizona, 7, California, 13, Oklahoma, 10, Nebraska, 8; total 34.

Mr. Hillis said the Progressive party would draw no more heavily from the Republican party than from the Democratic party.

the poor. I have stood for the men who tell me that you are not a man.

The enemies of labor, he charged, had long sought to get him out of the way.

"They would stop my voice, which, from the time I was a babe, my father and mother taught me never to raise except for justice and freedom and in the cause of the weak and the poor. They would stop it with the penitentiary."

"Oh, you wild, insane members of the steel trust and Erectors association! Oh, you mad hounds of detectives, who are willing to do your master's will! Oh, you district attorneys, who know not what you do! Let me will breed silence more ominous and eloquent than any word that my poor lips could ever frame. And do you think that you could destroy the hopes of the poor and oppressed if you did? Don't you know that upon my persecution and destruction there would arise 10,000 men abler than I have been, willing to sacrifice more than I have sacrificed in a righteous cause and these men would carry this banner to the end?"

Call Chief Witnesses Perjurors.

Enumerating all to whom immunity had been extended in the effort to convict him, Darrow asked why it was his associates in the McNamara case had not been prosecuted. The answer, he said, was because Davis lived in Los Angeles, and it was not the intention of the authorities to prosecute in this city.

Bert H. Franklin and John R. Harrington, former employees of Darrow, and the state's chief witnesses against him, were assailed with invective. Darrow declared they had perjured themselves on the stand in order to gain freedom for themselves.

Referring to Ford's denunciation of him as being morally responsible for the Times explosion Darrow again excoriated the prosecutor. He said he had never counseled crime or violence but always gentleness, kindness and forgiveness to every human being.

Conditions existed, however, he said, that brought about such crimes, and, despite prosecutions, they would happen over and over again, "until you go down to the fundamental causes."

Darrow will conclude his argument at the forenoon session tomorrow, after which District Attorney Fredericks will make the final argument. The prosecutor expects to consume the remainder of the day and all of Friday.

SCHPEPS CHANGES HIS MIND

Decides to Accompany Officers to New York When Learns They Are From District Attorney

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Aug. 14.—Suddenly changing his mind tonight, Sam Scheps, arrested here last Saturday night and held as a material witness in the Rosenthal murder case, announced his willingness to return to New York with Assistant District Attorney Rubin.

Postmaster Johnson advised him to accept as conclusive the telegram received by Acting Mayor Pettit today, giving a description of Rubin and Detective Stewart. Rubin is expected to start for New York with Scheps tomorrow.

Scheps' decision to return to New York with the two representatives of Mr. Whitman came after a day of indecision. Acting Mayor Pettit of Hot Springs sent a message to Mr. Whitman requesting that an accurate description of the men from his office be sent by telegraph. The description tallied with the men here and Scheps agreed to be given into their custody.

Rumors here during the day of a federal warrant having been issued for Scheps were found untrue.

STANLEY MAKES

is nothing so sordid and pitiful as the creatures who did it.

"This man escaped a prison cell by the skin of his teeth for having picked the pockets of a shroud for the use and benefit of the Republic in purity."

Discusses His Washington Trip.

Representative Stanley declared that late Mr. Perkins came to Washington as "envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary from J. P. Morgan & company, the harvester and steel trust."

After lecturing that Senator Hansbrough was at that time demanding an investigation of the International Harvester company, Stanley said:

"It was to stay the department of justice and to silence the demands of Senator Hansbrough and to settle the aid of the commission of corporations and of the president of the United States, that Mr. Perkins made his unheralded appearance in Washington. Here he remained for weeks oscillating between the department of commerce and labor and the White house with a familiarity of a friend and the insolence of an ally."

"Upon the commissioner of corporations he exerted all the powers of coaxing and coaxing. He reminded him of his great service and unique liberality to the party and the precious and long standing friendship which had been so beneficial to the house of J. P. Morgan & company, and to the administration of Roosevelt."

"So impressed was the commissioner of corporations with the necessity of suppressing the harvester investigation and preventing any further procedure against the other far reaching Morgan interests that he forgot the seal which the law had placed upon his lips. Power which were withheld from the highest law-making body of the land were freely revealed to the super serious emissary of the steel and harvester trusts."

Reviews Absorption Information.

Reviewing the information as to the absorption of the Tennessee Coal and Iron company, by the Steel corporation secured by the Stanley Steel investigating committee, Mr. Stanley said:

"The severest critic of Colonel Roosevelt can hardly conceive that he would in 20 minutes have commissioned the Steel corporation to crush its last competitor. Had he possessed one-tenth of the information which the commissioner of corporation was afterwards forced by the investigations of this committee and the pressure of public opinion to publish to the world, as suggested by the commissioner of corporations the investigation of the harvester trust was summarily stopped."

"The assurances of Mr. Perkins that the far-reaching influence of the Morgan company, the harvester and steel trusts were not to be sneezed at, appears to have had great weight with the chief executive."

"On this occasion concluded Mr. Stanley 'the colonel assumed the same relative position toward the masters from Wall street, that the Lord assumed toward the devil.' The Savior said: 'I will stand in front of you O' Steel Trust, I will paralyze the strong arm of the law. I will silence the voice of public clamor, and I will deliver to you bound and helpless the industrial dominance of the south and for that service worth multiplied millions to the United States Steel corporation it has not been lacking in gratitude from the day of merger until this good hour Perkins and Gary, brothers of the Steel corporation have been absolutely at the command of the ex-president of the United States."

"They were with him in the old party and they have staged and supported this political 'Punch and Judy' performance lately pulled off in Chicago in which they fantastically figure. Roosevelt, McCormick and Perkins play their little parts and take their cue from this insolent combination of political and financial High Bidders which did not hesitate to rob a crate for the campaign fund in 1904 and which is now entrusted with the duty of providing provender for the 'Bull Moose'."

SUFFERED EVERYTHING

For Fourteen Years. Restored To Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Elgin, Ill.—"After fourteen years of suffering everything from female complaints, I am at last restored to health."

"I employed the best doctors and even went to the hospital for treatment and was told there was no help for me. But while taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I began to improve and I continued its use until I was made well."

—Mrs. HENRY LEISBERG, 743 Adams St. Kearneysville, W. Va.—"I feel it my duty to write and say what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I suffered from female weakness and at times felt so miserable I could hardly endure being on my feet."

"After taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and following your special directions, my trouble is gone. Words fail to express my thankfulness. I recommend your medicine to all my friends."

—Mrs. G. B. WHITTINGTON.

The above are only two of the thousands of grateful letters which are constantly being received by the Pinkham Medicine Company of Lynn, Mass., which show clearly what great things Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound does for those who suffer from woman's ills.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham, Medicine Co. (Confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

CANDIDATE FOR THE REPUBLICAN NOMINATION FOR STATE SENATOR FROM EL PASO COUNTY. NAME TO GO ON THE PRIMARY BALLOT BY PETITION.

IN ORDER THAT THE PUBLIC MAY KNOW HIS VIEWS ON CERTAIN IMPORTANT QUESTIONS, HE MAKES THE FOLLOWING STATEMENT:

7. I WILL SUPPORT AN AMENDMENT TO THE PRESENT DIRECT PRIMARY ELECTION LAW WHEREBY ALL "ASSEMBLIES" AND "CONVENTIONS" WILL BE OMITTED SO AS TO LEAVE IT A PURELY DIRECT PRIMARY ELECTION LAW.

The "assembly" feature in the present law was placed there by the political bosses of both parties. They hoped to retain control of their party machinery and thereby control party nominations, and thus control the public offices.

For more than twenty years I have advocated a direct primary election law in Colorado, and such a measure was always opposed by the bosses. Twelve years ago, ten years ago, and eight years ago, I tried to induce the county central committee to adopt a rule providing a direct primary election in place of the old "convention." That could have been done and the Republicans of the county could have named the candidates of the party. The party boss, the office broker, the man engaged in the business of buying and selling public office, don't want any law or rule that will interfere with his "business." For the first time in their lives the Republicans will have the power to go to the primary election on September 10th and vote for their choice for party nominees. Those of us who have so long advocated this right and the giving of this power, will watch with great interest to see if the Republicans of this county will appreciate and exercise the power they now possess.

The present direct primary election law has some serious defects, but it is better than no primary law, and I hope to be able to make it a better law by removing the finger prints of the bosses from it.

The Republicans of this county now have both the right and the POWER to say who shall be their party candidates for office. They have the right and the POWER to speak and to speak directly on that subject, and they should not be embarrassed by the "assembly" which is merely the remnant of the old and obnoxious "convention."

By criticising political bosses, I do not criticise those who have held office when the bosses ruled. Many of them were good men and good officers. They could see no other way to political success except by following a boss. They are as happy as any one that the day of their bondage has passed and that they can now act like free men. These men, like all other Republican voters in this county, are for the first time in their lives politically free, and I believe they will exercise that political freedom on September 10th.

DECISION SUSTAINED

The United States circuit court of appeals has upheld the decision of Judge Robert E. Lewis, of Denver, in favor of the defendant in the suit of the late A. B. Meservey vs. the estate of W. H. Roby. The suit was originally brought in the federal court to have the transaction transferring the Waycott block, in the 400 block on the north side of Colorado avenue, this city, to W. H. Roby, set aside on the ground of inadequacy of consideration. Roby purchased the block for $40,000. Shortly afterward, Waycott went into bankruptcy, and Meservey, in filling his suit-as trustee, claimed that the property should have sold for $80,000. The decree of the court will be entered in the near future.

I. T. U. MAY DEMAND UNION MADE BOOKS FOR SCHOOLS

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 14.—That the International Typographical union now holding its annual convention probably will take action on a resolution demanding nation wide investigation by the union of the school book system became known today. Delegate J. H. Srief of Sioux City, Ia., is author of the resolution.

It seeks authorization for the executive committee to investigate the school book situation as related to the publishing industry and to "campaign for the adoption by school boards of text books manufactured by employers of union labor." In addition to resuming consideration of the report of the committee on law, the convention heard a number of addresses today. Among the scheduled speakers were H. N. Kellogg, chairman of the special standing committee of the American Newspaper Publishers association and W. B. Prescott, former president of the International Typographical union.

have to nominate other candidates by a direct vote, even though we must use the party name and party ballot in the primary.

We will go into the primary in September, not because any virtue attaches to a mere party name, but to avoid abandoning the primary principle of nomination and to keep our forces together. It is not a question of discarding a party name, but whether, merely because of a name, we shall discard our right to vote for the candidates of our choice. A party does not consist only in its name and its managers or mismanagers. It consists chiefly of men and women who compose it.

Party Name Immaterial.

When considering a candidate, his record and his reputation are all we care about; his party name is immaterial. I will cast my lot with any of the Progressives who have for years made this fight with me, under any name, and with no platform but their record, in preference to I. N. Stevens, even though he professes to have been born again.

In my opinion, conferences and mass conventions can give the people of Colorado no opportunity to indicate their choice of candidates, however well-meaning the men may be who assume to act for the public rather than submit nominations to a vote, and you Progressives of Denver can vote at the September primary without forfeiting the self-respect of those who have borne the brunt of many Progressive fights in Colorado, and I shall ask you to join me again in the fight against the machine at that primary.

Machine Doesn't Fear Stevens.

The men who have made this fight with me are both hated and feared, and are never being fought by the Evans-Gugenhelm crowd. These forces may at times distrust Mr. Stevens, but they have no fear of him. He has never been steam rolled. His ability, his discretion and his self-respect have kept him out of the path of that modern engine, of political warfare, and made him content to wage his little wars from safe distances, with paper mache shot.

For Mr. Costigan and his other associates on the Progressive ticket, I entertain the greatest respect. I will join them in their fight for Roosevelt electors. Fundamentally, we stand for the same things. Our differences of opinion are only as to ways and means of procedure.

The primary, to me, seems the only proper method of nominating state and congressional candidates. I do not question the motives of Mr. Costigan and his friends; who think differently, but with the position of Mr. Stevens, I take issue and challenge him to discuss in public the propriety of Progressive Republicans participating in the September primary. The Republicans of California, Kansas, Wisconsin and other states have restored their state governments to the people not necessarily because they fought inside the party, but because they had primary elections to nominate candidates, and used them.

BRAINERD, Minn., Aug. 14.—An authoritative statement was issued here today regarding the secret vote taken by the Federation of Federations of Railway Shop Employees of the roads west of Chicago. There will be no strike called in sympathy with the Harriman lines employees now on strike.

The vote for a general strike of the Federation of federations was lost by 451 votes.

BORAH TO SPEAK FOR TAFT

BOSTON, Aug. 14.—Senator Borah of Idaho is to make a speech urging the reelection of Mr. Taft at Middleton, Mass., on August 22. The occasion will mark the entrance of Senator Lodge into the campaign.

It is expected that the speeches of Senators Lodge and Borah will be largely in answer to the speech which Colonel Roosevelt is to make at Point of Pines, Mass., on August 17.

CERTAIN RESULTS

Many a Colorado Springs Citizen Knows How Sure They Are.

Nothing is more certain about the work of Doan's Kidney Pills in Colorado Springs. There is plenty of positive proof of this in the testimony of citizens. Such evidence should convince the most skeptical doubter. Read the following statement:

Mrs. M. G. Basham, 312 W. Cucharas St., Colorado Springs, Colo., says: "I was bothered by disordered kidneys for years, and the past year my condition was much worse. The kidney secretions caused me no end of annoyance, and I became so badly run down that I could hardly drag myself around. I became weak and my feet, limbs and ankles were swollen. After taking several remedies without benefit, I heard of Doan's Kidney Pills, and procured a supply from the Butcher Drug Co. They helped me at once, and since then I have been able to walk and get around without any trouble. Doan's Kidney Pills cured me and I willingly give them the praise they deserve."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

AGED RELIGIOUS FANATIC HELD HERE ON SUSPICION

Supposed Blood Stains Lead to Theory That He May Be Murderer—Denver Girl

Hours of sweating last night at police headquarters failed to bring anything in the way of a confession from an unknown religious fanatic, arrested yesterday morning because of his actions in various parts of the city, and on suspicion that he may know something of the murder near Denver last Friday night of Signa Amelia Carlson.

The unknown talked practically all night on religion, but when his Unknown man arrested here by the police yesterday, suspected of murder in Denver. He refuses to give his name, and calls himself, "William, Apostle of the Lord."

questioner tried to draw him into other channels, his eyes took on a peculiar glint, and he would say he "did not know," or remain silent.

When he was stripped for examination to see if his body bore any marks of hatpin stabs, by which it is believed the murdered woman marked her assailant, not a scratch was shown on his manly body.

He says he is 70 years old, and that five years ago he joined the army of the Lord and became the Apostle William. He refuses to give any other name, and there are no marks of identification among his effects.

"The Lord has commanded me to be as wise as a serpent," said the self-styled apostle. "No matter what God tells me to do, I will do it in spite of man."

Another of his favorite quotations is "Cursed is the tree that beareth no fruit."

The man was arrested by Officer A. E. Berry yesterday morning at the home of a woman living on the west side, where his demands for a hot meal were refused. Because of his refusal he "wiped the dust from his feet" on the porch, as he says he was commanded to do, and left a curse.

Other complaints of the man were made to the police last Tuesday, and it was decided to arrest him.

In addition to the few personal effects, a small satchel carried by the unknown contained two women's handkerchiefs, one of which was stained, apparently with blood, and a pair of nose glasses, broken and bent, evidently from the force of a blow. There was also a towel which bore the imprint of bloody fingers. These were sent to the Denver police yesterday by Chief Burns. William claims to have found the handkerchiefs and glasses while walking here from Denver.

The bottoms of the man's trousers are stained with blood, the police believe, and these will be subjected to chemical tests today.

In Denver Last Week

The "apostle" admitted last night that he was in Denver recently, and that he left there either Friday or Saturday of last week. He declines to say where he spends his nights, whether in a house or in the open, saying that "the Lord provides for him." His bible, which is in a dilapidated condition, is marked in many places, the passages scored usually being along the line of divine vengeance.

Efforts to obtain a sample of the man's handwriting were unsuccessful, and there is no way to connect him as the author of a fanatical letter which the police of Denver have in their possession. It is regarded as significant, however, that the letter contains many of the passages of scripture referred to last night by the man under arrest here. He refuses to write a word.

The man will not talk on any subject other than religion. He declares that he has no trade, that he worked as a laborer until five years ago, when he joined the army of the Lord, and that he has crossed the Rockies five times. The police have not determined what line of action will be taken, but he probably will be investigated as to his sanity.

At 2 o'clock this morning (Thursday)

Night Sergeant Henderson received a telephone message from the assistant chief of police in Denver that a drawing made of the man under arrest here from descriptions furnished by Henderson was positively identified by Mrs. H. B. Hall as the likeness of the man she saw Friday evening near the place where Miss Carlson was assaulted and murdered. Mrs. Hall asserted that the sketch was an absolute pen picture of the man whose strange actions attracted her attention.

As a result of the identification Assistant Chief Layton left Denver at 4 o'clock this morning for Colorado Springs, and in all probability the man under arrest here will be taken back to Denver today. The Denver office attaches a great deal of importance to the arrest made here yesterday.

Miss Burdie Barber of St. Louis, Mo., is visiting her sister, Mrs. Cora Halstead of 225 North Wahatch avenue.

A method has been devised for starting electric heat to be used for cooking purposes.

SPRINGS FLIES ONLY CITY FLAG IN STATE

Mrs. George A. Fowler, president of the Civic League, presented the first municipal flag ever given a city in this state to the city of Colorado Springs yesterday. The flag was made by Mrs. W. C. Sturks, who originated its design, and Mrs. Fowler made the presentation address on behalf of the Civic League when the emblem was given the council. Colorado Springs is the first municipality in the state to adopt a flag of its own, and the league believes its influence will be a strong factor in the conduct of municipal affairs. Mrs. Fowler also complimented the council for the work it has accomplished, since Colorado Springs adopted the commission form of government, and for the courtesies the commissioners have shown the Civic League. Mrs. Francis W. Goddard also spoke and expressed her appreciation of the work of the league. Following the council meeting the flag was flown from the city hall flagpole. The emblem presents a field of white bordered with blue, typical of the cleanliness of Colorado Springs and the blue of a Colorado sky. A medalion edged with green typifies the city's parking system, and on the medalion, in blue, is Pikes Peak with the sun sinking behind it. Mayor Avery and City Attorney McKesson accepted the flag for the city. Other speakers at the presentation were Mrs. Robert Kerr, Mrs. W. C. Sturks and Dunbar K. Carpenter.

At yesterday's meeting the council passed on second reading an ordinance vacating 51.2 feet of Cheyenne avenue, between Nevada and Weber, leaving a 50-foot thoroughfare. The ground vacated on either side of the roadway will go to the board of education. An ordinance providing for the annexation of Prospect Lake addition was also passed. The addition lies beyond Prospect lake.

A petition to reduce the license fee of public hire automobiles from $40 to $20 was refused.

Members of the Civic League asked Health Commissioner Frost to take some action in the matter of having weeds cut along the sidewalks and on vacant lots. Frost said the city is without funds for that work.

W. S. REYNOLDS MAKES PLEDGE TO THE VOTERS

In announcing my candidacy for the office of sheriff of El Paso county, subject to the nomination of the Republican primary, to be held on September 10, I wish to state to the voters of this county that if I am nominated and elected to that office, I pledge myself to see that the prisoners held at the county jail receive good and wholesome food, and after paying the cost of same, I will turn the profit made by the sheriff from the feeding of these prisoners, which I am informed amounts to several thousand dollars a year, back to the county commissioners to be used for the support of the poor and the charitable organizations of this county.

W. S. REYNOLDS.

PYTHIANS COMING HERE

The supreme lodge of the Knights of Pythias, which had been in session in Denver, adjourned late Tuesday night, and the delegates attending will scatter to all parts of the state on sightseeing tours today. Most of them eventually will visit Colorado Springs, for they expect to spend at least two weeks in Colorado. This means a total of about 4,000 visitors here from this source alone. The supreme officers will arrive Monday to spend a week.

At the request of the delegates, the local lodge will not open headquarters during their visit here, and has planned no formal program of entertainment. The delegates were approached on the matter, but thought that not enough of them would be in this city at any one time to justify the Colorado Springs members in maintaining headquarters.

Special car, for babies entered at Flower Show, will be on switch, Pikes Peak Ave. 9 a. m., Thursday.

WILL WED TONIGHT

The wedding of Miss Dorothea Marie Holden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George C. Holden, to Otis Edwin McIntyre, son of James E. McIntyre, will take place tonight at 8:30 o'clock, with the Rev. Harris Franklin Hall officiating, at the home of the bride, 1206 North Cascade avenue, in the presence of relatives and intimate friends.

After a short wedding tour the couple will spend a few days in the Springs before going to Denver, where they will make their home until next June, when Mr. McIntyre will graduate from the law department of the University of Denver.

TEXANS VISIT HERE

A party of 100 people from Dallas, Tex., bound for Yellowstone park, spent yesterday in this city. They are traveling in a special train made up of five Pullmans, a diner and a baggage car. W. W. Adair of the Dallas News is a member of the party, which is under the auspices of the Southern Methodist university of Dallas.

Midland Band Concert

"Frat" Men From All Parts of Country at Pan-Hellenic Dance

The Pan-Hellenic dance to be given by the college fraternity men of the Pikes Peak region at the Mansions park, Manitou, this evening, besides being a novelty, will be one of the chief events of the season among the college folk. The function will be of some note to the entire Greek-letter world, as fraternity men from the leading colleges of the country will be present. The ballroom will be decorated with the pennants and colors of the various fraternities and colleges represented. Light refreshments will be served.

Some of those who will be present, together with the colleges they represent, are: Dick Wooten, Vanderbilt university; Dan Butcher, Colorado School of Mines; Ward Marks, Guy Walker and L. O. Northrup, Kansas university; Charles Clark, North Carolina; A. M. John Blair, University of Missouri; T. Robinson, Georgia Technical; Floyd Mohlman and C. J. Rothgeb, University of Illinois; Harry Coll, David Smiley, Ray Sayre, Chadwick Perry, George T. Forbes, Judson Williams, Leonard Van Stone, Dwight Sisco, Fred Kampf, Robert Appell, Albert Carson and Gerald Seldomridge, Colorado college; Earl Clark, Purdue university; Leslie Carne, Jack Girding and Walter Plattner, University of Colorado; Charles Butner, University of Pennsylvania; Price Cordier and Tom Freeman, William Jewell college; L. P. Ernst, Tulane university; Edward Murphy and Robert Thompson, University of Nebraska; Arthur Tallent, University of Oklahoma; J. T. Witherspoon, University of Texas; Arthur Hemenway, University of Michigan; Edward Pugh, Louisiana State.

LAST POST CARD DAY

Today is free post card day at the Chamber of Commerce, but instead of giving the cards out at the Chamber of Commerce rooms, the secretary has decided to issue them from room on the ground floor, East Pikes Peak hotel, room 17, just west of the Burns theater entrance. This is the last time that the post cards will be given out this summer, but they will be issued today to all comers in any quantity that can be used.

The title of the card used this week is, "A Glimpse of Pikes Peak." The Sentinel of the Rockies, and the picture displays several types of local scenery attractively. The following reading matter occupies the place devoted to the message:

"SEE AMERICA FIRST. It is worth while. Do you know that Colorado has more and higher mountain peaks than Switzerland? That more than half the best hotels in the United States are west of the Mississippi? That there are more than 4,000 miles of good auto roads in Colorado alone? That there are 6,000 miles of trout fishing in Colorado's streams? That you could spend an entire summer in the Pikes Peak region and on each day take a different drive, ride or walk into the mountains? That there is a greater variety of grand scenery, more easily accessible than in any other equal area in America? That blankets are needed at night, even in July and August, in Colorado Springs? That there are trails which were used centuries before Columbus discovered America? That Manitou's mineral waters have no superior on this or any other continent? The Pikes Peak region is America's scenic playground. There is no tonic to equal Colorado's sunshine, pure air and mountain scenery. It will give you new life. A postal to the Colorado Springs Chamber of Commerce—Dept. X—will bring you detailed information about low rates and other reasons why you should spend your vacation this summer in Colorado Springs."

Mr. W. S. Gunsalus, a farmer living near Fleming, Pa., says he has used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy in his family for 14 years, and that he has found it to be an excellent remedy, and takes pleasure in recommending it. For sale by all dealers.

MUCH ENTHUSIASM OVER CARNIVAL AUTO PARADE

Chairman Donaldson of the automobile parade end of the summer carnival has been promising that the parade this year shall be as big and fine as it was last year, and it begins to look as if he would make it good. A meeting was held at his office yesterday afternoon, at which considerable was accomplished, and a big meeting of all the auto parade committees will be held tomorrow night to get up a lot of enthusiasm. The meeting will be at 8 o'clock, and everyone is expected to be there. A number of new committees will be notified today by postal card.

There were present at the meeting yesterday the chairman, and Robert Clough, Charles L. Tutt, W. W. Price, Dr. W. W. Williams, Carl E. Blackman, Edward Hine and E. E. Curtis. It was decided to open headquarters on Pikes Peak avenue next Monday, with an attendant in charge, where auto owners may examine samples of floral decorations, discover ideas, and generally get together. The committee has two rooms donated, but has not decided which one will be used. Such headquarters were opened last year, and were found very useful.

The auto parade will open the carnival Tuesday morning, August 27, and that is less than two weeks away. Owners of machines should begin making preparations to see that it is a success. This carnival is being advertised extensively all over the country by the railroads and the committee, and it is up to the Pikes Peak region people to see to it that there is no failure. The auto parade attracted quite attention last year because of the number of machines from various parts of the country.

Big Interest in Concessions.

Henry T. Lowe, chairman of the committee on concessions, says that there is twice the interest among showmen in the carnival than there was at the same time last year. He already has let four or five concessions and has discouraged a good many times that number that did not seem to be worthy. The committee is trying to keep out the fakes this year. He was at the White City in Denver this week, and talked with showmen there who have concessions, and he has also been advertising in Denver papers and in showmen's newspapers throughout the country.

Have you got a little cash? If so, today you can go to the auction sale of Lynn S. Atkinson and buy property that will be worth double the price you pay for it before the ink is dry on your deed. This is a real auction sale.

In the district court yesterday, Judge Owen continued until Saturday the hearing on the writ of habeas corpus in the case of Harvey W. Thorpe. An officer from Elida, Okla., is here to take Thorpe to Elida, where he is wanted on a charge of embezzlement. Deputy District Attorney Burns, representing Gensman Brothers of Elida, yesterday filed a petition of intervention in the county court in a replevin action brought by Thorpe's lawyers against Sheriff Birdsell to recover $501.99 taken from Thorpe when he was arrested here a few days ago, and which it is said Birdsell refuses to surrender. Gensman Brothers claim the money is due them.

Effective, Economical Complexion Beautifier

Julia Orff in The Clubwoman

One reason I so strongly recommend mercerized wax is that it really takes the place of several different cosmetics, saving time, patience and expense. It is better than any cleansing cream, better than any massage cream, and better than any rouge, for accomplishing the results for which such articles are used. As the wax actually absorbs an old, faded or discolored cuticle, a little each day, the underlying skin, which gradually appears, is clearer, softer, healthier-hued and more youthful than any cosmetic-made complexion. Spreading on a thin coat of this wax at night, washing it off mornings, in a week or so produces a marvelous transformation. Just one ounce of mercerized wax, obtainable at any drug store, will do the work. There is nothing better to remove freckles, tan, sallowness, blotches, pimples or blackheads.

For wrinkles and loose saggy skin, I invariably recommend a face bath made by dissolving 1 ounce powdered saxolite in 1/2 pint witch hazel. This has remarkable astringent and tonic properties.

Heavyweight Fighters Draw Biggest Money

By T. S. ANDREWS.
MILWAUKEE, Wis., Aug. 14.—Why it that the champions of the heavyweight and featherweight classes, with possibly a few exceptions, never draw anywhere near the money that is stars in other classes do? The title fellows can always be relied upon to put up the fastest kind of battles, but for some reason the average fight in the big leagues is not as exciting, or if not the heavyweights then the lightweights.
Take Johnny Coulton, considered the world's title holder in the bantam class, and his earnings do not begin to compare with Ad Wolgast, Packey McFarland, Mike Gibbons, Jimmy Labby or Jack Johnson, and still the title champion is a great favorite in most of the cities where he has appeared. Outside of a few big matches Johnny has had down at New Orleans a few big purses, but he has not pulled down any big purses. It is the same with Johnny Kilbane, as treasurer of former Champion Abe Attell's crown. Johnny has not been the busy kid like many others, grabbing the coin in all directions, and it is doubtful whether he has ever had a fight where his end was more than $5,000. Abe Attell was an exception, as the clever little Hebrew had a knack of getting good money for his services, no matter whether he was fighting a champion or a dub.
It has always been the case with the real small fighters, however, that their drawing power has been limited. Satisfying Nelson was probably one of the biggest money getters among them. Both lightweights and heavyweights, and Wolgast, too, has been a big earner. Johnson has earned big money during his two years of championship enjoyment, having been a big star at the theaters and music halls.

DRISCOLL COMING OVER TO MEET FEATHERWEIGHTS

Jem Driscoll, England's champion featherweight, is expected to arrive in this side of the water in the course of a few weeks and there is keen competition among the New York promoters for his services. Driscoll may be said, in a flimsy sense, to be Albion's last hope, for all the other champions of the various classes have fallen before foreign rivals. Either Johnny Kilbane, or featherweight champion, or Charlie White of Chicago will probably be selected as an opponent for clever Jem. White's chances are a shade better than Kilbane's, for Johnny is not in particularly good standing with the New York promoters at present because of his refusal to accept an offer recently made him by Billy Gibson for a contest with Johnny Dundee on Madison Square garden. Kilbane wanted more money than Gibson felt disposed to give and the champion's demands resulted in a calling off of all negotiations. The N.Y. Athletic showmen are working pretty well hand in hand nowadays and the boxer who incurs their displeasure is liable to find although having only one fight in all that time.

Mike Gibbons has been another good money getter for the short time that he has been in the spotlight, while Tommy Burns could hold his end with any of them when he was traveling about. Jim Corbett and Bob Fitzsimmons were also big money earners, but they had theatrical companies of their own on the road, and that made a big difference.

As a vaudeville card John L. Sullivan, no doubt, made all of them, for after he had retired for ten years he came back as a vaudeville card through his former popularity as a world's champion, and cleaned up over $200,000.
Jack McAuliffe was another big earner. Jimmy Barry was a wonderful fighter and bantam champion, but never made much money, neither did Johnny Griffin, another wonderful bantam, which goes to prove that the majority of fight fans like the bigger ones to idolize.

The bars put up against him in the metropolis.
White has been coming along with tremendous strides of late. His two recent victories over Shugrue made a big hit with the customers, and it is quite possible that he may be chosen to face Driscoll. Clever as the latter undoubtedly is, he has nothing on White in point of speed and accuracy. Charlie is the most scientific boxer turned out in the middle west since Packey McFarland began cutting rings around the crack 135-pounders. Also he has youth in his favor, while Driscoll is verging toward the stage where a man, no matter how good he may have been, must inevitably slow down.

The British feather limit of 125 pounds, scaling in the afternoon, would put White better than Kilbane. The latter has repeatedly stated that he will insist on his opponents making 122 pounds, where an important match is concerned, and this is something Driscoll cannot do.

ENGLISH EXPERT COMES TEACH SOCCER FOOTBALL

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—Fred N. Milnes, an old English cricketer and association football star, will arrive here this week on the Celtic. It is said he is to coach one of the big eastern colleges in soccer football. The adoption of soccer as a major sport by the intercollegiate association here last winter has created a demand for competent coaches, of whom there are not many available in this country.

Although soccer has been a popular game in the west for some 30 years, it was not until very recently that people in the east were able to see the real possibilities in the game. The standard of play has been improving lately, however, and there is a hope that this country will be able to send an amateur team to the next Olympic games to meet the crack English and continental teams.

C. S. Golf Club to Hold Approaching and Putting Contest Next Saturday

As a special feature for members of the Colorado Springs Golf club and their friends an approaching and putting contest for both men and women has been arranged for Saturday. Play will begin at 9 o'clock. A number of teams have entered and other entries should be phoned at once to the club, Main 312, or to J. S. Tucker, chairman of the entertainment committee, Main 214.

Saturday's journey will be in the nature of a mixed foursome except that the play will be confined to approaching and putting. The man of one team will first make an approach shot from 150 yards. His partner will play the second shot and so on. Next time the woman will play the first shot from 100 yards and the man will play the second stroke. It is expected that this will prove one of the most interesting competitions held at the club.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Harmon have offered two cups, one for the woman of the winning team and the other a souvenir cup for the man. The play will be on the home eighteenth green, just in front of the club house. Tea will be served at 5 o'clock.

JOE PATCHEN II LOSES RACE TO KNIGHT ONWARD

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 14.—History was made today at the meeting of the Grand Circuit stars at the Fort Erie track when the sensational subhand pacer, Joe Patchen II, went down to defeat in the Fort Erie, purse $5,000, for 2 1/2 furlongs.
The horse to take the measure of the son of Joe Patchen was Knight Onward, owned by J. E. Grey of Toronto, and driven by Nat Ray, the former steeplechase jockey.
Joe Patchen sold a hot favorite in the pools and had no trouble in disposing of the field in the first heat, covering the mile in 2:04 1/2. In the second heat Patchen went to a bad break at the start, but Fleming had the stallion pacing smoothly at the quarter pole. Fleming made a beautiful drive to overhaul Knight Onward, but was beaten by a neck. Joe Patchen paced the three-quarters in 1:30 1/2.

In the third heat Joe and away in front, followed by Knight Onward and Grand Opera. At the three-quarters Joe went into the air and Ray crossed the wire with Flights to speed. In the final heat Joe Patchen again broke at the three-quarter pole. Knight Onward taking the heat and race.

The Dominion of Canada stake for 2-year trotters was a long drawn-out affair, six heats being trotted to get a winner. Ed Geers with Dorsch Medium won the race, taking the second, fourth and sixth heats. Annie Kohl, favorite in the pool betting, got second money. Walter Cox, who drove the mare, was fined $200 by the judges after winning the third heat in 2:07 1/2. The judges held that Cox did not try in the first heat, which was won by Queen Worthy, the M. and M. stake winner, who was then drawn out on account of lameness. The judges later announced they would recommend that the time be remitted. Cox claimed that Annie Kohl broke at the head of the stretch and his statement was corroborated by other drivers in the race. The judges gave Cox the benefit of the doubt, holding that the field could not be seen clearly on account of the sun. Summary:

Trotting, 2:10 class, purse $1,000.—Cheney won; Gordon, Todd, second; Dugby Boy, third; Kenyon W. fourth. Best time, 2:07 1/2.

Trotting, 2:17 class, purse $2,000.—Dorsch Medium won; Annie Kohl, second; Ernest Axtell, third; Dave Hallie, fourth. Best time, 2:07 1/2.

Pacing, 2:12 class, Fort Erie stake, purse $5,000.—Knight Onward won; Joe Patchen II, second; Grand Opera, third. Best time, 2:04 1/2.

Pacing, 2:14 class, purse $1,000.—Denver Jay won; View Bolder, second; Resiee Bee, third; Major O'Dell, fourth. Best time, 2:08 1/2.

JOHNSON SIGNS TO FIGHT JEANNETTE

CHICAGO, Aug. 14.—Jack Johnson today signed articles to fight Jos. Jeannette in rounds before the St. Nicholas Athletic club of New York, September 25.
Jess McMahon, who made the match, guaranteed Johnson $25,000, with a privilege of 50 per cent of the first $50,000 of the receipts and 25 per cent of all the Kate over that amount. Johnson is to get half of the moving picture returns.
Both Johnson and McMahon posted forfeits with Al Tierney.
The referee was not named, but McMahon said it probably would be Dan Tane, the club's official referee. Jeannette's signature to the articles was obtained several days ago. What his share will be was not announced.

CANADIAN SLOOP WINS

CHICAGO, Aug. 14.—Canada's sloop Patrick today won the fourth and last race and the international championship of the Great Lakes, from the American yacht, Michigan.
The winner's margin was 5 minutes and 35 seconds and her elapsed time 4:14:52. The contest was to windward and leeward four miles and a half to the log, sailed twice.
The wind was poor throughout the race and at times it appeared that neither of the boats would finish within the five-hour limit.
In the motorboat races the Baby Reunion II showed her class by taking two events over 15 and 20-mile courses.

BAT NELSON MATCHED

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Aug. 14.—Batting Nelson and Steve Korchel were matched today for a 15-round bout here the afternoon of Labor day. The boxers will make 135 pounds at 10 o'clock a. m., September 2.

Zooz Schedule Has Interesting Games

Sensational baseball is indicated by the schedule which has been arranged for the next few weeks at Zoo park. Perhaps the most interesting series will be that on September 1 and 2 between the Zooz and Cottrells of Denver. The Cottrells have not played here this season, but have one of the strongest teams in the state.

Following is the schedule for the next few weeks:
August 18—Robbins.
August 25—Uto Indians.
September 1 and 2—Cottrells.
September 8—Boston Bloomer Girls.

JUDGES AND THE SHORT BALLOT.

ALL THREE candidates for President are in favor of the appointment of the judiciary rather than their election.

Mr. Taft thinks that even if they are elected they should be independent thenceforth and not subject to recall.

Mr. Roosevelt believes that they should be appointed, but that if they are elected, they might well be subject to recall by the legislature. This is the Massachusetts plan which he mentioned in his much-discussed Columbus speech.

Mr. Wilson goes a little further yet and while believing that they should be appointive, says that if they are to be elected it is logical to recall them, too, by the usual popular process.

All three are Short Ballot advocates, and recognize the need of clearing away from the ballot the jungle of minor offices which are not genuinely political, leaving to the people an unencumbered field for the selection of representatives. The appointed judiciary of Massachusetts and New Jersey ranks higher and is no more reactionary than the judiciary of the states where the judges must go into politics, and the decisions of New Jersey and Massachusetts carry more weight as precedents.

The judiciary, moreover, is usually subject to better control by the people through appointment than through election. It is easier for the people to select a Governor who will appoint the right kind of judges than to gauge the capacity and spirit of a long list of judicial aspirants and make all the selections at the polls.

It is a mistake to think that democracy is secured by electing all state and county officers from Governor down to constable. Experience has demonstrated that a three-foot ballot, or a seven-foot ballot, or a 14-foot ballot does not place political power in the hands of the people but that it guarantees boss rule. The conundrum, "Why is a boss?" has this answer: "The long ballot."

With judges appointed by the Governor and with a short ballot to concentrate popular attention upon the choice of Governor, it is almost certain that judges would be more efficient and less responsive to the influence of special interests than they are at present.

A BUSINESS REVIVAL AT HAND

NEW DATA come almost daily indicating that the slowing down process, made necessary in 1910, by the too rapid expansion after the panic of 1907 is being replaced by a commercial and industrial revival. One of the most recent and optimistic of prognostications is given in the advance copy of the "Annual Crop and Business" of the Continental and Commercial National Bank of Chicago.

"The greatest cause for optimism are the favorable crop reports. The report referred to says: 'The production of the soil this year, in almost all things, is over the average. It is a bumper year when all products are taken into consideration. No section will be left barren.'"

Not only is a bumper crop indicated but the high prices of agricultural products ruling will bring big money returns to producers: "A volume of agricultural products, 30 per cent larger than last year, will return to the farming community the most profitable results of a decade. The industries of the country have been feeling the stimulus of the prosperity of the tiller of the soil, and the ample supply of the needs of the people. The only prosperity is that which comes from the agricultural production, and that is assured."

The domestic money market is satisfactory and banks are in good condition. Our banks have large credit balances abroad and reserves sufficiently above the legal requirements as to indicate a fundamentally sound banking position.

General business is good, there has been a remarkable revival in the steel industry, a scarcity of labor is manifest. It appears that railroads will find it difficult to handle the immense crop together with the increased tonnage resulting from the general revival of business. Although operating costs of railroads have been increasing and net earnings have been decreasing during the last year, just at present net earnings are showing an improvement.

The report of the Continental and Commercial National Bank confirms numerous reports that have come from other sources.

OUR VICE PRESIDENTS.

From the Rocky Mountain News.

Whatever else the Bull Moose convention did or did not do, it did one great big thing in nominating Hiram Johnson for vice president. In thus naming a man big enough to be president if need be, the Bull Moosers smashed hard at the great American disgrace, and set a standard that succeeding conventions will have to measure up to.

When one comes to consider, there is nothing more amazing than the political habit of regarding the vice presidency as a mere minor office to be filled with scarcely more thought than is bestowed upon a constable. It is frankly based upon the assumption that a president cannot die, and that, therefore, the only possible function of the vice president is to preside over the deliberations of the senate.

And yet of seven elected presidents, beginning with Lincoln, three died in office and were succeeded by their vice presidents. Johnson was a blunderer who won impeachment, and Arthur, a district politician nominated for vice president to please Congress, was no more than a respectable dummy in the president's chair.

And yet this tragic record of presidential deaths worked no change in the selection of vice presidential nominees. Think back over the Arthur Sewalls, the Adlai Stevensons, the Henry Gasaway Davises, the Hobarts and the Fairbankses, or bend eyes on the present and consider "Sunny Jim" Sherman! Yet every one of them was elected as a potential president.

Not since Thomas A. Hendricks, that old Roman, has any vice presidential nominee been of presidential size until this naming of Hiram Johnson.

BEVERIDGE.

From the Kansas City Times.

Former Senator Albert J. Beveridge of Indiana leaves the Republican party to identify himself with the new Progressive movement. He has realized that the time is here when the party divisions of the people must represent the real convictions of the people.

The old parties do not correspond to the issues of today. One does not represent progressivism or liberalism and the other conservatism. The organizations of both parties stand for conservatism, while the majority of the people of both are progressives.

Mr. Beveridge has been a leader of the Republican party of his state. He was its last candidate for United States senate, being defeated only because the legislature of his state was Democratic. More honors might have easily come to him through the party of which he was his state's last titular leader. But Beveridge believed that the usefulness of the Republican party for any big public service was gone, and so believing it was consistent with his fine record that he should pass by its possible future honors and ally himself with the new party of Roosevelt's leadership.

The selection of Mr. Beveridge as temporary chairman of the Progressive national convention of August 5 is a happy one. He is a fighter for the square deal, whose sympathies with the cause of popular rule come from an understanding of life. Like Roosevelt, he has been in contact with life at many of its common, everyday angles. He has the present day vision of the younger statesmen. His attitude is typical of that of the young men of the young century.

What to Wear Mornings

By RUTH CAMERON.

"Some ladies think they may, under the privileges of the dressable life and neglect of their dress in the morning. Be it so, but from the moment you arise till the moment you go to bed, as cleanly and properly dressed as at the hour of dinner or tea. A lady who has been seen as a sloven in the morning will never efface the impression she has made with all the dress and pagentry she can afterwards involve herself in."

—Thomas Jefferson in a letter to his daughter. A young girl was sorting out her clothes for the week's washing. She held up a distinctly soiled petticoat for inspection, hesitated over it a moment, and then put it back in the wardrobe. "That's too soiled to wear afterwards any more," she decided, "but I guess I can wear it with my morning dresses another week."

Don't you think that's rather a queer point of view?

I do. When the morning is the freshest, sweetest time in all the day, why should anything so unbecomingly soiled be worn at the far end of the day? It is considered suitable to wear them. And yet you'll admit that it is a very common habit among women to exact a few days of wear in the kitchen from the afternoon tatters which are too soiled to appear again in the living room before it has been washed.

And just as "lucky" as this habit of wearing half soiled things in the morning is that of finishing up half worn finery about one's housework. One of the nicest girls I ever knew had this queer trick. She was a wholesome looking girl who would have been a perfect picture going about her housework in a fresh percale or gingham, but in a faded blue crepe, torn and spotted and trimmed with disgustingly soiled lace she was anything but a picture—except perhaps an illustration of an article on the wrong way to do it.

To my mind percale and gingham and such cloths belong to the morning just as naturally and inextricably as silk and laces belong to the evening. They are of the genus of morning, fresh and crisp and dainty like morning light, and morning flowers and morning bird songs.

It seems to me that no matter how wealthy one might be, one could not buy anything more beautiful for the morning than a fresh and simple cotton dress. At a house party I once attended one of the weather guests used to appear at breakfast in a rich negligee of pale blue silk and lace. It probably cost ten times as much as the little pink gingham dress of her next neighbor but to my mind it was not half so beautiful because not half so appropriate to the genus of the morning.

To dress simply and suitably in the morning ought to be just as much a part of every nice girl's education as it is to dress rich and fashionably in the afternoon and evening.

And Thomas Jefferson's advice is quite as good today as the day he gave it.

COLORADO UNDERESTIMATED AND CALIFORNIA OVERTAKEN.

To the Editor of The Gazette:

Among other delusions men have fallen heir to in this and other localities is that in some distant clime far more favorable conditions exist for money-getting, from which is to follow the unalloyed happiness supposed to consist of wealth, luxury and idleness dreamed of, and earnestly hoped for by all mankind.

Around the world there exists no place where social and industrial conditions offer so great a reward for human effort as in our own great country. And yet, go where you will—east, west, north or south—the sign board "For Sale" faces you upon every street and country road. This "For Sale" sign in most cases means that the owner is a transient (a respectable tramp) located temporarily—that he is dissatisfied with conditions, discontented, and that he wants to move on.

To firmly establish loyalty and patriotism home should be a sacred thing, and not merely a stopping place until a more favored spot can be found, which, in turn and time, is to be battered away when the young man or old moves west or east as the case may be.

This moving habit and restlessness has become such an epidemic throughout our country that, unless discouraged, our houses will soon have to be built like houseboats or else put on wheels with living rooms attached, so we can keep on moving.

Were all citizens owners of their own homes with well-kept lawns and flowers in their front yards, vegetable gardens and fruit trees in their back yards, and the environments with a stronger and fonder appreciation of home than desire for new locations, club associations and automobile dissipation, there could be reestablished on earth that mighty spirit of loyalty that produced the Declaration of Independence and our great constitution that demanded justice and fair play between men in all their social and business transactions.

Colorado Springs citizens are happy today—they have been happy for about "three weeks"—and their smile will continue while the hotels and rooming houses keep filled up with tourists who pay from 50 cents to $5 per day for the privilege of a bedroom.

But it was not always thus. I've been in your city (my old home town) for several weeks and I've talked to hundreds of your citizens, from bootblacks to bankers they all complain of poor business and bad business conditions. A worse lot of knackers, individually and collectively, I've never met in all my travels.

Colorado Springs has entirely too many of the I. W. W. element in her citizenship; not the same brand that provoked San Diego into inflicting punishment outside the realms of law upon organized agitators, but a class composed of two divisions—the one composed of a selfish wealthy people who are spending inherited money; the other composed of fellows who have lived off each other until commissions on trades have almost consumed entire values.

These are facts; but don't worry. Other communities and other cities are afflicted in the same way, and misery loves company.

When the writer left this city, some four years ago, the community was in good physical and financial condition, plenty of work and good wages. A working brigade equal to 20 per cent of the entire population was being supported. Today few workers are left aside from clerks and servants. Our court house, federal building, city hall, Y. M. C. A., churches, opera house, college buildings, hotels, business blocks, and an overabundance of residences, of a type that would be a credit to any city double the size of Colorado Springs, have all been built and, at last, the streets have been paved and the street lighting system is being installed and the widened sidewalks laid.

The city has been built—finished, and no work is laid out upon the trestle board for continued prosperity. A few weeks more and the crowd of summer tourists will be ready to leave and, as the hotel empty out, the banquet halls will be deserted and an oppressive quietness will reign and force the knackers to knock knock their own heads.

The question facing our metropolitan city is this: Are we to depend upon the outlay of the traveler within our gates for our continued income and prosperity?

Nature has been kind indeed to our community. Nowhere else in the known world has the artistic touch of an Unseen Hand sculptured, carved, and painted so many wonderful works that demand so much universal admiration.

"Finders is keepers;" but this is not justification for a community of 50,000 people to expect to live off the enforced tribute of sightseers.

PROSPERITY IS PRODUCTION! It is not charging $5 per day for a hotel room. It is not charging 50 cents admission to a mountain canon or $1 admission to caves that nature fashioned and formed ages before a warranty deed first granted property to man and "his heirs forever" and a day longer. Prosperity is not in buying a lot for $500 today and selling it for $1,000 tomorrow. Prosperity means that the big citizens are big enough to take an interest in all the community's conditions that will aid and prosper all citizens.

PRODUCTION IS PROSPERITY: Let us teach this motto to our children and write it in big letters over our city gates. Colorado Springs is bounded on the west by a rock-ribbed range of mountains whose hidden secrets of mineral wealth have as yet only been dreamed of. Cripple Creek alone with a production of $25,000,000 a year emphasizes the possibilities. Colorado Springs is bounded on the east by a deep, fertile soil that stretches away for hundreds of miles. Necessary water for this soil can be had easier and more cheaply than was the rapid running water of the Colorado, which was transferred hundreds of miles to the Imperial Valley where a sandy desert was made to blossom and bloom.

Water and soil welded and wedded together PRODUCE PROSPERITY. Without the expense of producing water on these broad prairies, relying upon Nature's method of irrigation system, their asset is not now fully utilized.

One Colorado Springs Creamery company has shipped nine carloads of butter to Los Angeles during the last six months. This one company pays over $20,000 a month to your ranchmen. This fact and figure justifies and should multiply faith in our community.

There is pasture enough between the Rocky Mountain range and the eastern boundary line of this state to feed 20 times the number of stock now fed and fattened. Beef steak and butter, which means good living, and bank accounts, will increase upon these millions of acres of land if we encourage men to become producers.

The money spent for advertising the wonderful scenery around Colorado Springs, THOUSANDS AND THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS, is largely thrown away—so uselessly spent as the money spent for erecting bill boards with their ads, that disfigure the face of the earth. If you or I want a suit of clothes, something good to eat, or if we want to travel to some thing, we don't read the unsightly bill boards—we read the daily papers and the bill of fare of some good fare.

If the money spent for advertising scenery, hotels and curies was expended in encouraging about 50 per cent of our city brokers, promoters, real estate trades and trimmers and other semiprofessional nonproducers to utilize the idle assets of our community, provided by a farseeing nature, Colorado Springs would enjoy the prosperity she is justly entitled to.

Colorado Springs also has unlimited coal in abundance—good coal and cheap coal. That is the father of power that produces rich minerals from the mountains and compels irrigation water to run up.

NO. 5 CLAUDE BOURGELET

(Claude Bourgelet, a Frenchman, was the pioneer in the establishment of the school of veterinary medicine and surgery, and founded the first school for the treatment of horses in Lyons, France, toward the close of the Eighteenth century. He was born in that city on March 27, 1873, and died at Alfort, near Paris, on January 3, 1912. When a young man he was sent to the University of Toulouse to be educated as a lawyer, but France, at the time, did not have a general code of laws. Legislation was conducted on the old Roman system, and each locality had its recognized customs.

The study of law was necessarily a complex and tedious one, and it did not appeal to the young man. But as his family expected him to follow the profession, he not only graduated with distinction, but soon found himself popular as an advocate, and with many clients, at Grenoble, where he settled.

One day an event occurred that changed his life. He had won a case and while pleading felt certain that he was acting with entire justice. But just after his success he found out that he had been deceived. He at once went before the court and asked that the decision be reversed. But his most eloquent pleading was in vain—the case had been tried, the evidence carefully considered, and the judgment must stand.

When he could not accomplish his righteous end, and the court imposed silence upon him, Bourgelet tore his robe from his shoulders, threw it at the feet of the judges and ordered them to take his name from the rolls as an advocate. Then he went home, cast into the flames all his law books and sent the papers of all his clients back to them.

The court did reverse this decision, but Bourgelet would not reconsider his resolution. He left Grenoble behind in his after life could never speak or hear of this case of his without trembling in all his body.

In his youth Bourgelet had loved horses, and he decided to enter a cavalry regiment. He began to read and study works on the treatment of horses, and soon realized that the healing of disease in cattle was a true science. In order to understand horses he began to dissect the animals, and continued his investigations on other domestic creatures. Then he obtained the post of director of the Lyons Riding school.

Bourgelet began to write books on the subject of treating animals, and about this time Diderot and D'Alembert published their French encyclopedia, and they had him write for it on everything pertaining to veterinary medicine and surgery. When he wrote a work on the comparative anatomy of the horse, the ox and the sheep, it was translated into all modern languages.

For six years Bourgelet wrote and experimented constantly, and then founded the veterinary school, the honor of which belongs entirely to him. He lived to see his ideas and methods followed in Italy, Germany and some of the other nations of Europe.

Bourgelet arranged all the courses at this first school at Lyons, and he saw to it that each student had a thorough training, and soon there was a call for a second institution. This was established at Alfort, near Paris, and Bourgelet went from Lyons to take charge of it. So little did this man receive for his services that they had to appeal to the state for money to support them.

TOMORROW—WILLIAM MURDOCH THE KAFFIR AN ADROIT THIEF

James O. Fagin in the Atlantic

At the time of my visit to the diamond fields the community was divided into two hostile camps, consisting of legitimate and illegitimate brokers. The former had offices and a license, the latter scorned expenses and control of any kind, and had dealings directly, and on the quiet, with the Kaffirs in the pit. The Kaffir laborers were just then beginning to understand the opportunities connected with their employment, and scores of valuable stones were finding their way into the market and giving no end of trouble to the legitimate dealers. When a Kaffir was caught at the game he received an unmerciful thrashing from the vigilance committee, and occasionally was strung up on a lamp post, for there were no trees in the vicinity. But the thrashed Kaffir went home to his kraal and thought it all over; he ingenuously told with all sorts of ingenious devices for concealing the gem on his naked person, which he perforated with holes and tunnels, and in his stomach, which he manipulated in various ways at will. Finally in course of time, the mine itself was surrounded by a high fence and a rigid system of examination was instituted by the authorities: Its principal features were emetics, tapping the bodies to locate the cavities, and hanging by the neck; but at the time I left the fields this naked Kaffir thief was still the unsolved problem.

ROMAN MASONS AND THEIR TOOLS

Chas. Winslow Hall in the National Magazine.

The excavations at Pompeii and Herculaneum have unearthed masons' tools much resembling those in use today, and demonstrating the free use of large tiles, the employment of iron to tie together brick and stone work, and the use of a kind of concrete of which Hippo was the binding medium, and finely broken brick a favorite material. The dome of the Pantheon, built in the first century of the Christian era still testifies to the enduring nature of concrete superstructure about bound with lime and not with cement.

The annual production of the amount of opium imported into China each year from India amounts to about $1,000,000.

THE HASKIN LETTER

CAMPAIGN FUNDS

III—FOUR YEARS AGO

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

The campaign of 1908 was the first national campaign in which publicity was required, and then not required by any national law, but by the law of the state of New York. The two big campaign committees, having their headquarters in New York city, thereby became amenable to the laws of the Empire state. The Democrats, at the instance of Mr. Bryan, published their contributions and expenses before election, although that was not required, even under the state law. The Republicans refused to publish their lists until after the election, but there was nothing shown in the report as finally published that might not just as well have been made public beforehand.

According to the statements of the officials of the two national campaign committees, the Republicans had a million dollars more in 1908 than the Democrats. The Republican statement placed the expenditures of the national committee at $1,600,000, while the Democrats had only $500,000 all told. Of the Republican fund $500,000 was raised by state finance committee, and was spent in the several states without going through the hands of the national committee, although the accounts were forwarded to the committee. The national committee itself expended a little over a million dollars.

In the Democratic camp there were more than a hundred thousand individual contributors, upward of 23,000 of whom lived in the state of New York. Uncle Sam got $37,000 from the Democratic national committee in postage, the express companies as much more. On the labor bureau $37,000 was spent in the effort to line up organized labor against Taft. The printing bill amounted to $142,000, and it cost $38,000 to supply the stream of campaign oratory that flowed from the hustings of the country. The various state organizations got $129,000.

Recently congress has been probing into the campaign fund situation in the campaigns of 1904 and 1908, through the committee on privileges and elections of the senate, but the results have not been at all startling.

Have Been Practically Virtuous

According to the testimony of those who have appeared, the political committee of the two great parties have been as politically virtuous as they well could be. As far back as 1904 they were turning down sugar trust, tobacco trust and other trust contributions right and left, and neither party confessed to have been willing to receive "tainted money" from any source. One man came to Chairman Cortelyou with a roll of bills amounting to $20,000 which he felt it his patriotic duty to give to the cause of his party, and then offhandedly observed that when victory came once more to the glorious cause of Republicanism he hoped he would have a friend as court when he applied for a position in the diplomatic service abroad. That little remark transformed a high-purposed contribution into one described by a different adjective and Mr. Cortelyou said nay, nay, there is no need of such money in our camp. Mr. Dupont of Delaware had a $20,000 donation to make in the 1908 campaign, but Mr. Hitchcock remembered that the powder trust was then having a little trouble with the government, so he told Mr. Dupont that he would better keep his money. Mr. Dupont did not view it that way, however. "What I have given I have given," he remarked, and immediately he opened up a new bank account in the name of the Republican party and started out to hold the $20,000 until such time as the party would let him spend it.

Usually Easy to Get Around Law

Hermann Ridder, the treasurer of the Democratic national committee in 1908, seems to have been the largest contributor in either party that year. He gave $37,000 to the fund, although the books do not show it. As Mr. Bryan had limited the amount that should be received from any one man to $10,000, Mr. Ridder, according to his own statement, gave $37,000, of which $10,000 was in his own name and $27,000 in the name of each of his three sons. This incident shows how easy it is usually to get around any law limiting contributions. In this particular case no one charges that the course of Mr. Ridder was open to criticism.

clism, for he evidently had no ulterior motive in the matter; but the magnate who would want to give a large amount easily might mask it by giving through a number of individuals under him.

The Democratic committee in 1908, the first national committee that ever preserved and made public a full list of every contribution given. Not a single five-cent piece contributed failed to command a record of the name of the donor in the books of the committee. The same policy probably will be pursued this year, and the party leaders expect that the list of contributions will be the longest in the entire history of American politics.

There is no doubt that the men who usually raise campaign funds will be considerably handicapped this year in getting big contributions. The fact that the law provides that there shall be full publicity will cause many contributions to be turned down that otherwise might be solicited and accepted, for fear of the effect that the announcement might have on the voters of the country. Of course, it has usually happened in the past that the work that a thousand dollars can do in a campaign has been greater than the harm that the news of the contribution could do, and the present fight might not be an exception, but none of the candidates will be willing to have the impression get abroad that the so-called "money power" is behind him.

Recollection Statements

The Rucker law requires that the pre-election statements of contributions shall be filed in Washington no more than 15 days nor less than 1 days before the election and that an additional statement of subsequent contributions and expenditures must be made every six days thereafter until the election. A party filing a report 15 days before election would have to file two subsequent reports, while the committee filing its first report 1 days or less before the election would have to file only one supplemental report. The election next fall will be held on the fifth of November. The main pre-election report will have to be given out on or before Saturday October 26, and the latest date of which the final report can be given out will be on November 1. This will be on Friday and the election will come on the following Tuesday.

When Postmaster General Hitchcock was chairman of the Republican national committee in 1908 he adopted a scheme of getting contributions that proved extremely effective. He had a list made of some 45,000 business men scattered throughout the country whom he thought were enjoying sufficient prosperity to be able to make a contribution of $50 for the purposes of the national committee. He sent each of these well-to-do citizens a letter advising him that the committee thought he ought to be able to give that amount to the cause, and the suggestion was sufficient to bring in a constant stream of checks, which aggregated nearly three hundred thousand dollars.

The federal law requiring the publicity of campaign expenditures and contributions at elections at which members of the senate and house are chosen in two states, practically gives congress control of the majority of the elections of the country, since the courts have held that any election at which these officials are elected may be influenced by state and local tickets, and consequently the federal government has a right to go into the matter of the whole election, and not only the part played by the congressional candidates.

Maine will have the advantage of the other states. The Pine Tree state holds its election ahead of the scheduled time, and as the federal law applies to elections where representatives in congress are chosen in two or more states, there is no requirement of federal publicity of campaign funds dispensed there.

OPEN PARLIAMENT

COLORADO IS UNDERESTIMATED AND CALIFORNIA OVERRATED.

contains and compels irrigating water to run up-hill.
Colorado is underestimated and California overrated. California, like Colorado, depends too much on tourists. So long as the river runs the mill wheels turn. If the flow money earned and accumulated east the Rockies—the long freight trains loaded with Colorado's potatoes, fruit, falfa, chickens, eggs, butter, and steak—was stopped for 50 days, California's boom would be "busted." Not a week goes by but from one to half-dozen of my old workmen hunt me up in my California home wanting me to help them secure work. Let me tell the citizens of Colorado what I know and what they ought to know: That notwithstanding the great building boom in Los Angeles there are more idle men, more vacant rooms, and more vacant houses in that population than exist in Colorado Springs.

In Los Angeles painters and carpenters receive $3.50 per day. In Colorado Springs these tradesmen receive $2.50 per day; other workmen receive proportionally higher wages in this city.

In San Francisco, with the prospects of the greatest world's fair this old earth has ever known, there exists 10 vacant store rooms, 10 vacant offices and 10 unemployed men in proportion to every vacant store, office or unemployed person in Colorado Springs. For 25 years I've been a reader of the Gazette, a resident of this city and a large taxpayer, and I feel justified in speaking the truth, as I see it, of the community in which I spent many happy and prosperous years.

During the past 25 years I've spent frequent vacations in California and for three years I've been a permanent resident of Los Angeles.

Far be it from me to say a word against California, for it was there I gained my health and I believe the Golden State has a wonderful future ahead which is promised with the opening of the Panama canal. But with the opening of the canal will come a horde of cheap and poorly provided European labor, introducing a problem difficult to solve.

Again, we all know that all communities overestimate the unearned increment and overrate new shipping facilities. Cripple Creek, Creede and Leadville prospered more and prices were higher and times better while depending on the stage coach and anticipating the railroads than after the roads were in operation.

Our two old political parties, so old that they in their latter days to some seem almost SACRED THINGS, REASON OF THEIR MACHINE-MANAGED POWER, and privileged avenue with fairness to the greatest and grandest citizenship on earth—are finally being dissolved. The oldest of trusts are being forced out of business because of their organized "restraint of fair play." For this we sincerely thank God.

Like the two old political parties in cities are all overbuilt and city life is overexploited. We will be compelled to quit building monuments and buildings and give our attention, time and energy to building better conditions.

Instead of establishing "bread lines" in the cities, we should establish them in the country to attract men to the place. There is employment for all the unemployed under the most favorable conditions—good air, pure water, opportunity for individual homes, independence and happiness.

In our cities prevails an epidemic of unrest, with 10 men engaged in distribution and trading where there ought to be one, with dissatisfaction and discontent pervading and invading entire cities. We must turn the tide of immigration back to farm production.

Mr. Editor, these are facts and facts are stubborn things, except when analyzed, accepted and utilized.

LYNN S. ATKINSON.
Colorado Springs, Aug. 14.

Auction today, Lynn S. Atkinson will sell all his real estate to the highest bidder.

Deaths and Funerals

The funeral of Mrs. Alexander Lemercier, who died Monday morning at her home, 1625 Wood avenue, after taking a quantity of iodine by mistake for a sleeping draught, will be held at 11 o'clock this morning at the Hallett and Baker undertaking rooms. The Rev. Gibson Bell will officiate in the absence of the Rev. Arthur N. Taft, rector of St. Stephens Episcopal church, of which Mrs. Lemercier was a member. The services will be private.

Word has been received by Mrs. Lodina Faus, 1614 Lincoln avenue, of the death of her only son, Charles F. Faus, in an automobile accident in British Columbia. The particulars have not yet been received. Faus was a resident of Denver some years ago, and was connected with the South Denver Car company. He also was a member of a military organization there.

The body of Mrs. Ella Celeste Adams was taken to Denver yesterday morning about 25 of her friends accompanying it in a special car on the Rio Grande. Interment took place in Riverside cemetery immediately after the body reached Denver.

The funeral of Benjamin Robinson, aged about 60 years, an old pioneer here, who died Tuesday in Kit Carson county, was held at 1:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon from the undertaking rooms of Fairleys & Law. Interment was in Evergreen cemetery.

Personal Mention

Mrs. Arthur Braisted, formerly of this city but now of Wichita, Kan., is a visitor here.

Miss Josephine Trout left yesterday for Chicago, where she will spend next winter.

Miss Jessie Barnes, who were formerly residents of this city, have come from Chicago to spend the summer with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hunter Sel-doridge.

The Rev. J. S. Wilson, pastor of the United Presbyterian church, and the Misses Hazel Honeyman and Wellma.

Shilady, have gone to Canon City to attend the state convention of the Young Peoples Christian Union of the United Presbyterian church.

Dr. W. W. Flora and family returned yesterday from Portland, Ore., after a visit of two months on the coast.

WON'T NEGLECT CATARRH

Catarrh is a most distressing complaint, known by its symptoms of stuffy feeling in the head and nose, roaring in the ears, mucus in the throat, difficult breathing, etc. When the blood becomes thoroughly polluted with catarrhal matter the inflammation extends to the bronchial tubes, causing hoarseness and often an aggravating cough, the stomach is affected, resulting in dyspepsia, loss of appetite, and gradually all the mucous membranes of the body become diseased. Catarrh is beyond the reach of local treatment. Only temporary relief can be had from the use of sprays, washes, etc. S. S. S. cures Catarrh by cleansing the blood of all impure catarrhal matter and at the same time building up the entire system. Then as pure, nourishing blood circulates through the body, the inflamed membranes heal, all discharges cease and every symptom of Catarrh passes away. Don't neglect Catarrh; cure it with S. S. S. as thousands have done. Book on Catarrh and any medical advice free.

SOUVENIR DAY AT ZOO PARK TODAY

For the first time in the history of Zoo park, a souvenir day will be held there. It is stated for this afternoon and every woman within the gates will be given a handsome present. Alderman J. J. Coughlin has not announced the form which they will take, but says they are most attractive.

Next Sunday will be Pumpkin Pie day at the park. That kind of a festival was thought the best to follow the clam bake, the barbecue and the watermelon day, and will come well up to the mark set by its predecessors.

About 1 o'clock everyone at the Zoo will be served to "pumpkin pie," and the treat will be "on the house," for no extra charge will be made for the "big eat," to those within the gates.

Hay fever and asthma make August a month of intense suffering for many people. Foley's Honey and Tar Compound give prompt ease and relief, and is soothing and healing to the inflamed membranes. Wm. M. Meredith, N. Seasport, Me., says: "I suffered with asthma for many years, and have used many a doctor's prescription without avail. A few doses of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound relieved me, and less than a bottle caused a complete cure. I am glad to let others know what Foley's Honey and Tar Compound has done for me."
